FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE
RICH MAHOGANY BEAUTY.

Early in the eighteenth century, Chippendale, Adams, Hepplewhite and Sheraton registered the London wave of fashion in this country for old, rich, dull-finished mahogany, in the most elegant designs, whether in table or sideboard, chair or desk, bureau or highboy, reflect this pure simplicity, truly indicative of American tastes and make you think you have stepped "back" for a chat in Grandmother's room. To have woods pure and well-seasoned, and outlines aesthetically chaste you must
